Daisy and Kat

[It's late Daisy is cleaning up the restaurant when Katt enters]

Katt: Hi Dais'. Hey I'm sorry I didn't show up. [No response as Daisy ignores her and continues to clean] I said I'm sorry. Why are you being such a bitch about it?

Daisy: Right. I'm a bitch and you're an angel, no matter what happens. It should have been stamped on our birth certificates.

Katt: What the hell is the big deal? You unload shifts on me all the time.

Daisy: Well you knew I was supposed to meet Charlie's parents tonight.

Katt: Dais' I'm sorry. I forgot.

Daisy: Tim needed you, right? Just what the hell do you two do together, anyway? That's what I'd like to know.

Katt: Well if I told you it would sound stupid.

Daisy: It would sound pathetic. Daddy boffing the babysitter is a really old story. It happens all the time.

Katt: We talk, we read, we listen to Mozart sometimes.

Daisy: You really believe this thirty year old guy is gonna leave his wife and live happily ever after with you? You're living in a fucking romance novel Kat.

Katt: Oh yeah, "Boffing, fucking, screwing." The great Daisy, nobody's fool. Why don't you start taking cash for your services? It would be more honest.

Daisy: [Slaps Katt] Wipe your conscience. [Leaves]
