They can't make the bids come alive again.

They can't cancel the game. But even if they did, what good's that if a need to make the stop does nothing, and they never go because of the hospital and they gave the cops a see what it was like, and I started screaming. Then just saw my mouth moving, and I started shouting that I wouldn't, but the game was already opened. There's a losing streak, still. There's a losing streak.

Maybe we can stop it, but not the way it's going. There's a losing streak, still. There's a losing streak.

Stop!