

Bridesmaids
Jewelry Store Scene

[Annie just had recent a falling out with her best friend. A few days later a young girl comes into the store Annie works at]

Girl: Excuse me.

Annie: Oh. Hi.

Girl: I'm looking for a birthday gift for my best friend.

Annie: Oh.

Girl: I want to get her a necklace that says, "Best Friends Forever."

Annie: You sure you want it to say "Forever"?

Girl: Yeah, why?

Annie: Come on. "Forever"?

Girl: Forever.

Annie: I don't think you guys will be best friends forever. No offense. But you know... The friends you have when you are younger sometimes... Sometimes you grow apart when you get older. Maybe she'll find a new best friend. And maybe she'll be more successful than you are and prettier and richer and skinnier and they end up doing everything together.

Girl: You are weird.

Annie: I'm not weird. Okay?

Girl: Yes, you are.

Annie: No, I'm not, and you started it.

Girl: No, you started it. Did you forget to take your Xanax this morning?

Annie: God, I feel bad for your parents.

Girl: I feel bad for your face.

Annie: Okay, well, call me when your boobs come in.

Girl: You call me when yours come in.

Annie: What, do you have four boyfriends?

Girl: Exactly.

Annie: Yeah, okay, have fun having a baby at your prom.

Girl: You look like an old mop.

Annie: You know what? You're not as popular as you think you are.

Girl: I am very popular.

Annie: I'm sure you are. [Making an obscene gesture with her hand and mouth] Very popular.

Girl: Well, you're an old, single loser who is never going to have any friends.

Annie: You're a little cunt!!! [Looking at her boss, a long awkward moment passes] I'm sorry.

END