Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid

[Butch and Sundance are injured. Both take refuge in a small building before their final gunfight with the Bolivians]

Butch: I've got a great idea where we should go next.

Sundance: I don't want to hear it.

Butch: You'll change your mind.

Sundance: Shut up!

Butch: Ok, ok.

Sundance: Your ideas got us here.

Butch: Forget about it!

Sundance: I never ever want to hear another of your ideas.

Butch: All right.

Sundance: Ok.

Butch: [Moment] Australia. I figured secretly you wanted to know, so I told you. Australia.

Sundance: That's your great idea?

Butch: Oh, boy, it's the latest in... in a long line.

Sundance: Australia's no better than here.

Butch: Aw, that's all you know.

Sundance: Name me one thing.

Butch: They speak English in Australia.

Sundance: They do?
Butch: That's right, smart guy. So we wouldn't be foreigners. They got horses in Australia. They got thousands of miles we could hide out in. And a good climate, nice beaches. You could learn to swim.

Sundance: No! Swimming isn't important. What about the banks?

Butch: They're easy. Easy, ripe, and luscious.

Sundance: The banks or the women?

Butch: Well, once you've got one, you've got the other.

Sundance: It's a long way, isn't it?

Butch: Aw! Everything's got to be perfect with you.

Sundance: I just don't want to get there and find out it stinks. That’s all.

Butch: At least think about it.

Sundance: All right. I'll think about it.

Butch: Hey. When we get outside... and we get to the horses, just remember one thing. Hey, wait a minute.

Sundance: What?

Butch: You didn't see LeFors out there, did you?

Sundance: LeFors? No.

Butch: Oh, good. For a moment there, I thought we were in trouble.

[Both charge out guns blazing]

END